ABOUT MARRAKESH

Marrakesh, also known as the "Pearl of the South" or the "Ochre City," is situated at the foot of the Atlas Mountains. The city was founded in 1062 by Youssef Ibn Tachfin, the first king of the Almoravides dynasty. Many centuries ago, the country of Morocco used to be called Marrakesh in the Middle East. Marrakesh is the fourth largest city in Morocco, following Casablanca, Rabat, and Fes.

Today, Marrakesh is the most visited city in Morocco and is ranked as the 7th best destination in the world by Time Out. Founded almost 1,000 years ago, Marrakesh surprises visitors with its vibrant energy. The city's ramparts, gardens, mosques, Kasbahs, Djemaa El Fna square, and imperial palaces serve as the backdrop for cultural, sporting, artistic, and economic activities.

Marrakesh is a major city in the northwestern African nation of Morocco and is the capital of the Marrakesh-Tensift-El Haouz region in mid-southwestern Morocco. It is located to the north of the foothills of the snow-capped Atlas Mountains.
